

1. The first part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

2. The second part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

3. The third part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

4. The fourth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

5. The fifth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

6. The sixth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

7. The seventh part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

8. The eighth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

9. The ninth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

10. The tenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

11. The eleventh part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

12. The twelfth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

13. The thirteenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

14. The fourteenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

15. The fifteenth part of the document is a list of names and addresses of the members of the committee.

The Political Thought of Mao Tse-tung

The Political Thought of Mao Tse-tung

STUART R. SCHRAM

FREDERICK A. PRAEGER, Publisher
New York • London

320.951
M29pa

FREDERICK A. PRAEGER, PUBLISHER
64 UNIVERSITY PLACE, NEW YORK 3, N.Y., U.S.A.
77-79 CHARLOTTE STREET, LONDON W. 1, ENGLAND

Published in the United States of America in 1963 by Frederick A. Praeger, Inc., Publisher

All rights reserved
© 1963 by Frederick A. Praeger, Inc.
Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 63-18539

This book is Number 134 in the series of Praeger Publications in Russian History and World Communism

Manufactured in the United States of America

Acknowledgments

I should first of all like to express my gratitude to the Rockefeller Foundation for assuring me of the leisure to undertake the research that has made this book possible. Needless to say, the Foundation is in no way responsible either for Mao's own views or for my interpretation of them. I should also like to thank the East Asian Research Center of Harvard University and its Director, John K. Fairbank, for the hospitality extended to me during the past year, which has provided me with a pleasant and stimulating environment for my research.

Thanks are due to Mr. Edgar Snow and Mrs. Helen Foster Snow for their kind permission to reproduce passages from the original manuscript of Mr. Snow's interviews with Mao Tse-tung in 1936, and to Mr. Boyd Compton and to the University of Washington Press for authorization to reprint, with a few minor textual changes, extracts from Mao's speeches of February 1 and 8, 1942, as translated by Mr. Compton from the original Chinese text and published in Mao's China.

In view of the documentary character of this volume, special importance attaches to the assistance of the librarians of the Chinese collections at Harvard University, Columbia University, and the Library of Congress, and above all to that of Mr. Eugene Wu, Curator of the East Asian Collections of the Hoover Institution and Library in Stanford, California. The majority of the original texts used as a basis for this volume were obtained from this source, and the unfailing courtesy and helpfulness of Mr. Wu and his staff greatly facilitated my exploration of this unique collection.

Mr. S. M. Leong made the original drafts of the English versions of that part of the materials in Chapter I-V which had never before been translated from the Chinese. I revised these after comparison with my own French translations; the new translations in the remaining chapters are entirely my own.

M. Jean Touchard, the director of the collection in which the French version of this volume is appearing, and Mrs. Jean Steinberg, who has edited the English text, have both gone over the manuscript with care and made useful suggestions for achieving greater clarity and readability.

APR 29 '64

v THE HUNT LIBRARY
CARNEGIE INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

vi • Acknowledgments

My interpretation of Mao Tse-tung's thought has been enriched by conversations with many specialists both in France and in the United States. My greatest debt in this respect is unquestionably to Benjamin Schwartz, but I doubt that either he or any of my other interlocutors would agree completely with the use I have made of the ideas they have suggested to me. In any case, the reader should not hold them responsible for any errors of fact or interpretation of which I may be found guilty.

Contents

INTRODUCTION	3
NOTES TO INTRODUCTION	85
PROLOGUE: THE PRE-MARXIST PERIOD IN MAO TSE-TUNG'S DEVELOPMENT	94
A Study of Physical Education
I. TO THE GLORY OF THE HANS	103
A. Toward a New Golden Age / B. The Chinese People / C. Old China, New China / D. The Chinese People Has Stood Up
II. MAO TSE-TUNG AS A MARXIST THEORETICIAN	111
A. The Sinification of Marxism / B. What Is a Marxist Theoretician? / C. Dialectical Materialism / D. On Practice / E. On Contradiction
III. EXTERNAL AND INTERNAL CONTRADICTIONS—THE BOUR- GEOISIE BETWEEN IMPERIALISM AND THE REVOLUTION .	136
A. The Role of the Merchants in the National Revo- lution / B. The Chinese Government and the Foreign- ers / C. Analysis of All the Classes in Chinese Socie- ty / D. The Hegemony of the Proletariat in the Bour- geois-Democratic Revolution / E. The Relation Be- tween External and Internal Contradictions / F. A Letter from the Chinese Workers' and Peasants' Red Army to Our Brothers the Officers and Soldiers of the White Army on the Subject of the Forced Occupation of Manchuria by Japanese Imperialism / G. Proclama- tion on the Northward March of the Chinese Work- ers' and Peasants' Red Army to Fight Japan / H. On the Tactics of Fighting Japanese Imperialism / I. The Stages in the Development of the Revolution / J. The Kuomintang Has a Brilliant Future / K. The Chinese Revolution and the Chinese Communist Party / L. The Bourgeoisie and the People

IV. THE PEASANTRY AND WORKING-CLASS LEADERSHIP	167
A. The Great Union of the Popular Masses / B. An Analysis of the Various Classes of the Chinese Peasantry and Their Attitudes Toward Revolution / C. The Chinese Proletariat / D. The Bitter Sufferings of the Peasants in Kiangsu and Chekiang, and Their Movements of Resistance / E. Report of an Investigation into the Peasant Movement in Hunan / F. The Force of the Peasantry and the Leadership of the Workers / G. Appeal to the Ko Lao Hui / H. The Particular Characteristics of the Chinese Peasantry and the Chinese Proletariat
V. THE MILITARY PRINCIPLES OF MAO TSE-TUNG	193
A. Why Can China's Red Political Power Exist? / B. The Composition and Training of the Red Army in Earliest Days / C. Chinggang Mountain / D. Erroneous Conceptions and Their Social Origins / E. The Particularities of China's Revolutionary War / F. Poems on the Long March / G. Conscious Activity in War / H. War and Politics / I. The Military Principles of the Chinese Red Army
VI. REVOLUTION, DICTATORSHIP, AND LIBERTY	212
A1. Communism and Dictatorship / A2. Against the Intimidation of Comrades / A3. Let Us Transform the Consciousness of the Masses / A4. Chinese Forms and Soviet Forms / A5. Learning from One's Subordinates / A6. The Function of Dictatorship in the Transformation of Society / B1. Ancient Culture and New Culture / B2. Literature and Art in the Service of the People / C1. Miss Chao's Suicide / C2. Decree Regarding Marriage / C3. The Immortals / D1. Youth Needs Experience / D2. The Role of Youth in the Revolution
VII. PROBLEMS OF SOCIALIST SOCIETY	233
A1. Nonantagonistic Contradictions / A2. Contradictions under Socialism / A3. On the Correct Handling of Contradictions Among the People / B1. Let's Get Organized! / B2. On the Enlightened Gentry / B3. The General Line of Land Reform: Unite 90 Per Cent of the Population / B4. The Question of Agricultural

	Cooperation / B5. Let Us Create Cooperatives of an Advanced Type / C1. Victory Is Only the First Step / C2. Revolution Can Change Everything / C3. Six Hundred Million Paupers / C4. China Is Poor and Blank / C5. The Masses Can Do Anything
VIII.	CHINA AND THE UNDERDEVELOPED COUNTRIES	255
	A. China Is the Key / B. Guerrilla Warfare Is the Inevitable Path / C. China's Boundaries / D. There Is No Third Way / E. China Supports the Algerian People's Struggle for Liberation / F. India's Path Is Similar to That of China / G. The Peoples of Asia, Africa, and Latin America Should Unite and Drive American Imperialism Back to Where It Came From
IX.	RELATIONS WITH THE WEST	264
	A. America, the Most Murderous of Hangmen / B. The League of Nations Is a League of Robbers! / C. A War for External Peace / D. We Are for Roosevelt and against Chamberlain / E. The Second Imperialist War / F. Hurley, Chiang Kai-shek, and the Reader's Digest Are a Menace to World Peace / G. Reactionaries and Atom Bombs Are Paper Tigers / H. American Imperialism Is Sitting on a Volcano / I. Imperialists Will Never Become Buddhas Until Their Doom / J. We Do Not Fear War / K. The East Wind Prevails over the West Wind
X.	RELATIONS WITH THE SOVIET UNION AND THE OTHER COMMUNIST PARTIES	284
	A. We Are Not Going to Turn the Country Over to Moscow! / B. In Memory of Norman Bethune / C. The Comintern Has Long Ceased to Meddle in Our Internal Affairs / D. Letter to the Spanish People / E. Letter to Comrade Browder / F. Telegram to Comrade Foster / G. Stalin Is the Friend of the Chinese People / H. The Greatest Friendship / I. Stalin's Place in History / J. The Albanian People Has a Glorious Revolutionary Tradition / K. No Power on Earth Can Separate Us
	A BRIEF CHRONOLOGY	301
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	307